Invest in the heartland of German history:
SAXONY-ANHALT

Almost 7,000 years of history and cultural assets of European and international importance to be experienced make Saxony-Anhalt a heartland of German history. Only here can visitors marvel at medieval architecture along the “Romanesque Road”, stroll through the idyllic “Garden Dreams Parks”, discover sensational archaeological finds on the “Sky Paths” and become acquainted with Martin Luther at the original locations of the Reformation.

Thanks to the broad cultural-historical spectrum in Saxony-Anhalt, the federal state has the highest density of UNESCO World Heritage Sites in Germany: Bauhaus Dessau, Collegiate Church, the Castle and Old Town of Quedlinburg, the Luther Memorial Sites in the Luther Cities Eisleben and Wittenberg as well as the Garden Kingdom Dessau-Wörlitz.

Emperor Otto the Great, Martin Luther, Hans Christian Andersen, Neo Rauch, Catherine the Great, Johann Sebastian Bach, Hugo Junkers and Walter Gropius form the backdrop for art and cultural travel in Saxony-Anhalt.

From Saxony-Anhalt the Reformation went around the world. The well-known Luther Cities Wittenberg, Eisleben and Mansfeld are a magnet for visitors from all over the world.

When Germany celebrates the 500-year anniversary of the Reformation in 2017, Saxony-Anhalt will be the centre of national and international attention due to its numerous original locations and the world’s largest museum dedicated to the history of the Reformation.

The BAUHAUS school of art, design and architecture, which is of global importance and also closely associated with Saxony-Anhalt, was founded in 1919 in Weimar and was relocated to Dessau in 1925, and then became Germany’s most successful cultural export item.

An industrial region of the future emerged in Central Germany, which was closely linked with visionary and idealistic plans for a new image of humanity implemented in terms of architecture, educational theory and promotion right up to space.

Dessau became the capital of classical modernity with the settlement of the Bauhaus in 1925.

Annual events and highlights such as the Handel Festival in Halle (Saale), the Emperor Otto Festival in Magdeburg, the Kurt Weill Festival in Dessau, and the Garden Kingdom Summer at the Garden Kingdom Dessau-Wörlitz or the numerous atmospheric Advent markets throughout the state ensure variety.
