

Logistic location Saxony-Anhalt - RoadShow Sea ports, Rostock, 19 August 2010

With its central geographical position in the central German economic area Saxony-Anhalt is developing more and more into a modern logistics turntable. This includes professional organisation of so-called hinterland traffic for the large German sea ports on the North Sea and Baltic Sea. The air hub Leipzig/Halle, the waterway hub in Magdeburg with the largest inland port in central Germany, the successful rail transport companies and not least the development centre for telematics and electronic consignment tracing are evidence of the region's high logistics expertise.
